Dead is Gene Redd, 45, of 1617 NE Avenue I, Belle Glade. Injured is Tracy Bethea, 36 of Clewiston.

According to Belle Glade Sgt. Steve Hinton, Mr. Redd was headed west on Marina Road in his 1980 Mazda pickup truck when he was hit by Mr. Bethea's 1982 red Corvette.

Sgt. Hinton said preliminary reports show Mr. Bethea failed to make a curve and went into Mr. Redd's lane. He would not say at this time whether Mr.

Betha was speeding. Mr. Redd died at the scene. Mr. Bethea was taken by Trauma Hawk to St. Mary's Hospital. Both vehicles were totaled in the accident.

Mr. Bethea was in intensive care at St. Mary's Hospital Wednesday, but a spokesman with the hospital said his condition was stable and he would be moved out of intensive care on Thursday.

Gene Redd was the store manager for nine years at Paul's Parts.

Store owner Faith Sasser said Mr. Redd would be missed by everyone who knew him.

"It was just a tragic, senseless accident," she said.

GGH opens new 12-bed OB unit

By BRENDA BUNTING
SUN Editor

Baby Javarius Eaddy made his entrance into the world at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday morning, oblivious to the excitement around him.

The seven pound, two ounce boy was the first infant born in Glades General Hospital's new obstetric unit.

The 12-bed unit opened Monday morning despite efforts by Everglades Memorial Hospital in Pahokee to stop the opening of the new facility.

Everglades Memorial's attorney filed a temporary injunction to stop the opening last Thursday.

The hospital is also suing the Palm Beach County Health Care District and others, saying the new obstetric unit is a duplication of services in the Glades and will drive up health care costs for local residents.

Glades General Hospital's Administrator Neil Whipkey maintains the new O.B. unit is an enhancement to the services offered in the Glades.

"Despite Everglades Memorial Hospital's efforts and good work the last eight years, additional services are still needed," he said.

"I want to stress that our battle is not with them, and their battle is not with us," he said. Mr. Whipkey said this whole issue was a women's health care issue, and a minority issue.

Western Palm Beach County leads the county in unwed teen pregnancy, low birth weight babies, lack of prenatal care and infant mortality, according to a report by the Health and Human Services. The report, published in December of 1992, was compiled in collaboration with the Children's Services Council and the Birth File Subcommittee.

"It appears to me that this situation is begging for more resources, not less," Whipkey said.

"People here should have a choice, just as people on the coast have a choice as to where to have their babies," Whipkey added.

GGH plans to offer space to operate a prenatal clinic to Health and Rehabilitative Services in their doctor's office in the South Bay Plaza. Whipkey said HRS could use the space three days a week.

A full-time neonatologist, Dr. Zeno, is now working at Glades General as well as a full-time MD anesthesiologist.

"We're real proud of that," Whipkey said.

Rainfall hampers sugarcane harvesting, but next year's prospects look good

Facing the weakest sugar prices in four years, Florida sugarcane growers produced 1.71 million tons of sugar (raw value) from 15.35 million tons of sugarcane during the 1992-93 harvest season, according to Andy Rackley, vice president and general manager of the Florida Sugar Cane League.

In 1989, raw sugar prices exceeded 23 cents a pound and have traded downward since that time. The reasons for the drop are strong domestic production and high imports.

This season's production is a slight decrease from the 1991-92 season numbers of 1.83 million tons of sugar from 16.11 million tons of sugarcane.

"Farmers had some operational difficulties this season because of rainfall," said Mr. Rackley. "Heavier than normal rainfall in the last few months of the season resulted in wet fields that delayed both hand cutting and mechanical harvesting."

"However, the prospects for the next year's crop look very good," Rackley added.

In spite of the decrease in production in Florida, consumers should not expect an increase in the price they pay for sugar, primarily because carry-over inventories of sugar are projected by the USDA to be substantially more than last year. These large inventories have resulted in lower returns to sugar farmers, yet the latest USDA data indicates that the consumer price index for sugarcane-containing products continues to go up, while raw sugar prices have declined.

Sugar farmers averaged slightly less in yield per acre

Goggans baby wins Miss Photogenic contest

Veronica Gabrielle Goggans, 11 months old, competed in the Celebrity USA National Pageant in Tampa, on April 23-25.

She brought home the title of Miss Photogenic in her division (0-11 months).

Along with her crown she also placed second runner-up in both western wear and sports-wear categories.

Veronica was one of a few children to compete in this national pageant from the Glades area.

She was sponsored by Pahokee Flower Shop, Job Service of Florida (Belle Glade), and her family.

Her parents are David and Rosa Goggans of Belle Glade. Her grandparents are J.D. and Wanda Goggans of Belle Glade, and Juan and Olivia Gonzalez of Pahokee.

Pahokee-Canal Point Ministerial Assoc. to host Prayer Service

March 6 marks the 42nd consecutive observance of the Annual National Day of Prayer.

Once again, Americans are encouraged to set aside time for concentrated prayer at work, school, home or church.

The National Day of Prayer Task Force, a non-sectarian group with no political affiliation, says it is the right, privilege, and responsibility of citizens to pray for America, its leaders and our families.

Locally, the Pahokee-Canal Point Ministerial

Association invites the public to attend a brief prayer service at the Pahokee City Hall at 12:20 p.m., May 6. Various ministers will read portions of Scripture and offer prayer on behalf of the nation and in thanks for the blessings Americans have received.

"I encourage members of our community to share in this brief time of prayer for our local, state and national governments," said Pastor James Brewer, president of the ministerial association.

"Fun Day" held at PBCC Glades

After a few weeks of study, students at Palm Beach Community College find that a day of plain fun is a required course.

On April 16, a large number of students gathered for the first "Fun Day," sponsored by the Student Government Association.

Math professor Janette Campbell's team successfully routed Sociology professor Roger Rolison's team in volleyball, with a final score of 15 to 12.

Students also enjoyed themselves playing horseshoes and taking part in a chess tournament.

SGA Representative John Pettry was pleased by the turnout and said, "This is a great way to bring students together. We'll have to start planning the Second Annual Fun Day soon."

Great people in the Glades...In 1991, throughout the state of Florida, United Methodists were asked to share financially in special project, "Claim the Flame". The program is designed to help meet the needs in several areas of ministry. Two members of Canal Point United Methodist Church, Leonard Maxson, 83, and his sister, Joyce Sims, 81, volunteered to take over the janitorial duties at Canal Point United Methodist Church, without pay, in order that the money saved could be sent to the "Claim the Flame" project. The people of the church gave donations as the pair worked almost every day for over a year. Shown in the photo, from left is Frances Adams, Leonard Maxson, Joyce Sims, and Pastor Jackie McMillan.

Entries sought for Lakefront Legacy poetry and short-short fiction contest

The third annual Lakefront Legacy Arts Festival is scheduled for Saturday, September 18 on the campus grounds of Palm Beach Community College (PBCC) Glades. The event will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The festival, which is a celebration of the historical and cultural heritage of the Lake Okeechobee area, is jointly sponsored by PBCC Glades and by Palm Beach County Tourist Development Council.

Of special interest this year are three contests (poetry, short-short fiction, and photography) for all ages from kindergarten through senior citizen. Cash prizes will be awarded to first place winners in each of the 10 poetry categories, each of the 10 short fiction categories, and each of the six photography categories. For entry forms and further information concerning the contests, contact Jeannette Dexter at 996-3566.

Budding authors will have the opportunity to compete in a poetry contest as well as a short-short fiction contest.

Poems are limited to 30 lines, and short-short fiction is limited to 300 words. In addition to the open subjects, contestants in the writing contests may also participate in a Glades Lakefront category. This category requires the subject matter to be related to an area within a 20-mile radius of Lake Okeechobee.

Photography buffs will also get a chance to display their talents in the photography contest. There are three black and white categories open to all ages, and three color categories open to all ages. Categories are landscape or still life, character, and nature.

The festival promises to be an exciting, fun-filled day for the whole family. Many of the activities and displays will recreate the legacy of the Glades, telling in song, story, and pictures, the development of one of Florida's last frontiers.

Besides the writing and photography contests, Lakefront Legacy Arts Festival will offer an art exhibit featuring the works of artists from the lake Okeechobee area, food booths, entertainment, storytelling, arts and crafts, and hands-on art activities. Festival planners also expect to have several Florida writers in attendance.

For entry forms, and further information, please contact Chairman Linda Steele at 996-5059 or PBCC at 992-6166.

LOW BACK PAIN

If back pains are a way of life for you, the reasons can be varied and complex. Some may be pathological, but very often the cause is muscles which are either over or under-exercised which are producing spinal distortion. Vertebrae slip into abnormal positions, resulting in "pinched" and irritated nerves, which cause pain and even loss of function of the affected body part. Poor posture, or even emotional tension, can be the root cause.

Two tests determine if you can deduct moving expenses: mileage and time.

Two receive Eagle Scout awards

Friday, April 30 is a date scouts, Anthony Pino and Shawn Stambaugh will remember for the rest of their lives as the night they received the coveted Eagle Scout award.

Pino, son of Lydia Cruz and Nelson Pino, and Stambaugh, son of Inge and Curtis Stambaugh, were honored at an impressive ceremony at John Stretch Park.

The Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Eagle Scout, Kenneth Lutz, III. Eagle Scouts, Paul Orsenigo and Steve Rice served as Honor Guards.

Reflections on the trail to the Eagle were presented by former scoutmaster, Bill Schoenfeld; Troop Committee Member, Kenneth Lutz, Jr.; Glades Central bandmaster, Willie Pyfrom, and Scoutmaster, Jim Shine. Nostalgic memories of Pino's five years and Stambaugh's seven years of scouting were recalled by the speakers as well as personal testimonies about the candidates.

Detective Michael Fincannon, an Eagle Scout himself from Troop 622, gave an Eagle testimonial on the responsibility of the award and the importance of setting "the example" for scouts and fellow citizens.

F. David Teets, District Chairman and an Eagle Scout from 621, spoke on the eagle itself and why it has been chosen as a symbol for the highest degree of scouting.

A highlight of the program was the presentation of the award by the Gulfstream Council Order of the Arrow Ceremonial Team, the Hitchhiki dancers.

Dressed as Indians, the team quietly slipped through the lake in canoes and approached the campfire clad in full Indian dress. While drums beat rhythmically in the firelight, one member of the team performed an authentic Indian dance. Each of the four supporting members of the ceremony team affirmed the importance of the high honor and responsibility of attaining the rank of Eagle Scout. The ceremonial dance concluded with the presentation of the Eagle Award to Pino and Stambaugh.

The charge to the Eagle Scout was given by Bob Peters, Gulfstream Council Training Committee member, who has been a mentor to both Pino and Stambaugh.

Pino's Eagle Scout project involved painting the Katherine Price Foundation. Stambaugh's community service work evolved around the reorganization of the Citizen's Crime Watch Program.

"You just don't know how proud I am of these two scouts," said Mr. Shine, who has manned the troop for the past four years.

"They are fine persons as well as scouts and they have worked hard to become Eagles. These two scouts have formed the foundation of the program. This was a great night for Troop 622."

Color guards, Darrin Potter, Eddie Fincannon, and Brian Garcia closed the program with the retreating of the colors.

"The proof that these two boys exemplify the scouting program is demonstrated by the fact that they were selected to serve on the staff of the upcoming Junior Leadership Training Course. They have also been selected to serve on the staff of the 1993 National Scout Jamboree in Ft. A.P. Hill, Virginia," said Mr. Shine. "Words can't express how proud I am of them."

GCCHS teacher honored with award

Leo Danilievit, Junior Achievement teacher at Glades Central High School, was awarded the Junior Achievement's national Bronze medal and was also named the Applied Economics Teacher-of-the-Year for Palm Beach County.

In a ceremony April 27 at the West Palm Beach Holiday Inn, Ellen St. Stone, Consultant for the Junior Achievement of the Palm Beaches, presented Mr.

Danilievit with a plaque which recognizes him as an outstanding educator. Mr. Danilievit's community resource teacher Terry Lind of QO Chemicals, was also named as the 1993 Business Consultant of the Year for Palm Beach County.

Mr. Danilievit's course places an emphasis on business and the free enterprise system. Students form their own company, sell stock to raise revenue, and sell the product which they have chosen. Students make business decisions and culminate with the liquidation of the business by paying sales and profit taxes. They return the investment with interest to the shareholders.

"It was nice to be recognized for doing something for students," said Mr. Danilievit. "It's a fantastic program which takes a lot of work on all parties involved."

What's the law?

Hi. I think I should Speak Out about a trailer that's parked in Pahokee City limits.

I thought it was against the law to have the trailers and have them hooked up inside the city limits. They're supposed to be in trailer parks.

And also, the house that still sits on 110 Lake shore Drive in Canal Point. Two houses were removed. They said it was bad scenery and a bad place there. Everything was condemned four years ago and they're still there. Somebody should investigate. Thank you.

Editor's note: We spoke with Ken Schenck, Pahokee's City Manager. He said there are some areas within the city limits where individual mobile homes are allowed. There are also other instances where this is permitted. Without knowing the specifics, he cannot fully answer this question. This caller is encouraged to call him at 924-5534 about the first part of their question. As far as the second part of your question, maybe one of our readers know who you should contact about this.

Objects to half-dressed hot dog vendors

Yes. I'm calling about the lady who's half-way dressed in Belle Glade selling hot dogs.

Why isn't anybody trying to do something about it? If Belle Glade is as good as any other town it should not be allowed for someone dressed like that to be selling food out in public.

I think somebody should do something about that lady out there. There's a lot of kids going around her. I think that's a disgrace for our city.

Editor's note: We asked Belle Glade's Chief of Police, Michael Miller to respond to this Speak Out. He said the vendor is on private property and operating a lawful business. "I know of no criminal laws that will allow us to stop this practice," said Chief Miller.

Thanks, Andrea

The people of Pahokee just want to say a big "Thank You" to Andrea Hooks for a job well done.

Thank you Andrea from the bottom of our hearts. We know that this took a lot of courage and we just thank you.

Goodbye, Extension Service?

An open letter to EAA Agribusiness people and homeowners:

Extension needs your support, now! The Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Services is being threatened with a dissection of its programs, amounting to a withdrawal of county funds for Home Economics, Environmental Horticulture, and Agriculture by the Palm Beach County Commissioners. 4-H would be retained (hopefully for programs with 'youth at risk') as would the Mounts Botanical Garden (already privately funded by contributions to the tune of $200,000 per year).

Current county support for Extension is $1.2 million per year, down from $1.4 million in 1990. Each of the last three years has seen a reduction in the level of county support and this trend is continuing.

The Commissioners want Extension programs to be self supporting, that is, to go from public supported affordable programs to those that are greater user-fee supported. An analogy would be like going from all public schools to all private schools, an extremely expensive proposition for you. This would result in income generating programs being promoted and/or adopted at the expense of clientele and guidance committee desired programming.

The Extension Agents have asked County Extension Director Clayton Hutcheson to express to the Commissioners that fund-raising is not the mission of the Cooperative Extension Service and that they do not intend to become fund raisers.

The Commissioners have several options: increase the level of support (they currently have NONE of 2 4-H Agent positions filled, 2 of 4 Home Economics Agents, and NO Livestock/4-H Agent); continue current support (inadequate); reduce the level of over-all funding again; or eliminate specific programs.

You should be aware that if the Commission pulls the plug on Extension, i.e. refuses to fund them at all, the county will lose $1.2 million in matching funds from the state and another $500,000 in grant monies. More importantly, all Extension services to the county would probably be lost.

This includes on farm Extension assistance by local and research station-based Extension Agents and Specialists.

Agents Scott Charbo and Tom Schueneman in Belle Glade have been told they would be moved to vacancies in other counties if the Palm Beach County Extension office were to close.

Grower seminars, on-farm field trials, short courses, CEU programs, Restricted Use Pesticide License testing, worker safety programs, newsletters, and Extension activity in general in Palm Beach County would cease.

Two Commissioners are supporting Extension and they should be thanked; Carol Roberts and Maude Ford Lee.

Five Commissioners do not support Extension; Mary McCarty, Karen Marcus, Warren Newell, Burt Aaronson, and Ken Foster (Mr. Foster did not defend Extension and therefore, by default, is not viewed as supportive). It is the suggestion of the overall Extension Advisory Committee that you, as growers and homeowners who benefit from Extension services, must respond with a strong letter or FAX of support to the County Commission.

Send separate FAXs expressing support to Newell, Aaronson, and Foster. You should FAX all messages to Commissioners at the same FAX number.

FAX 407-355-3990
Address 3301 N. Olive Ave., 12th Floor, West Palm Beach, FL 33401

The squeaky wheel gets the oil. A one-time show of support is not enough. Plan to send several messages over the next two months, but start immediately. Tell them you need Extension services, you have already paid for these services with your tax dollars, and you want them to continue. Ask for a response.

Your help is needed now. Extension needs a united grower support, and a lot of it. Spread the word.

Thanks.

"Why my mother is special"

A tribute to mothers and grandmothers from area school children

Sunday is Mother's Day. We asked a few of the local school children to tell us why their mother or grandmother is special. Here are a few of the responses. We regret we could not run them all.

Love always,
Robert Mock

M-is for Mother who cheers me up when I'm sad and makes me laugh until I'm glad.
O- is for outstanding that she is. She's been that way throughout my years.
T- is for tired, cause she's always on the go helping me when I ask her, often not saying no.
H- Happy and helpful you see because she's always there for me.
E- is for everything that she can do if you ask her she'll even help you.
R- is for Radiant so bright so dear and that's why my mother is so special every year.

Love
Fred

My mom is special because she loves me and cares for me. My mom is special because she cleans my room, washes and buys my clothes. She is my one and only mom. And I love her because of what she does and what she is. My mom is special because. She carried me nine months and brought me in this world.

Love
Souana Herolien

My mother is special because when I need help she's there for me. When I'm missing she's worries. When I get into trouble she punishes me and then tells me what's right and wrong. When I'm sick she's there for me until I'm better. If I make bad grades on my report card and she knows I'm having trouble, she tells me before I go to school to ask for help. When she's around I feel proud.

Love
Derrick Jenkins

My Mother is special because she cooks spaghetti on my birthday. Sometimes I get what I ask for and I love mom because she is special to me. Sometimes she puts me to bed and she gets breakfast.

Love
Rosenwald Elementary

My grandmother is very special. She buys me clothes. She always give me money. She is very nice to me. She buys me toys. And she is the nicest grandmother I ever had. And that's why my grandmother is special.

Terra Redmon

My mother is special. My mother gives me money and toys. She got me a race car and bike. She takes me to church and I love my mother. She is the best of the west.

Percy

My mother is very special, because she buys me shoes and clothes. She teaches me about God and church. She loves me and she takes care of me. I love her because she makes me proud of her.

Jermika Grandison

Gove Elementary

My Mother is special because...I love her very much. She helps me with my homework and she lets me drive the car sometimes too. Sometimes she plays catch with me. She gives me money for Day Care and she tucks me in my bed.

Casey Underwood

My Mother is special because...She helps me with my homework. And she helps me with all the things I can not do. I love her because she takes good care of me wherever I am sick.

Adam Trimble

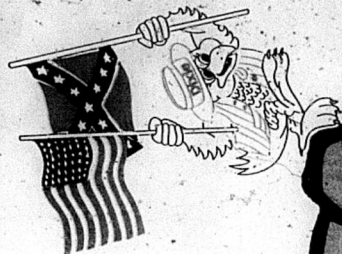

My Mother is special because she cooks spaghetti on my birthday. Sometimes I get what I ask for and I love mom because she is special to me. Sometimes she puts me to bed and she gets breakfast.

Going strong at 51

By David Ranieri

Thinning hair-Expanding waist line. Declining health.

Unfortunately, these are all characteristics that many people seem to associate with middle age.

But some individuals like Jerry Arline are trying to change society's stereotypical views about middle age.

At 51, this Pahokee resident is competing in not one, but three sports- weightlifting, powerlifting and track and field at a time when the king of comebacks, Muhammad Ali, would be amazed.

To say Arline has been successful in athletics is an understatement.

The 48 awards and medals he won in weightlifting and powerlifting in 1992 alone confirm that fact.

To truly appreciate this athlete's fine talents, consider what he accomplished in a single athletic competition.

Last September he competed in the International Law Enforcement Olympics in Washington, D.C. Arline, who is the Supervisor of Probation and Parole at the Glades's area office, is responsible for the gation of criminal cases represented the Florida Department of Corrections.

The competition featured between 5,000 and 7,000 competitors from over 35 countries competing in over 50 sporting events.

No matter how talented the competition was, Arline outshined them all.

In this nine day competition Arline won six gold medals in powerlifting, weightlifting, discus, javelin and the hammer throw. He also won a bronze medal in the shot put.

Just recently, he competed in the Naples Annual Track and Field Championships April 17th. He placed first in the shot put, discus, hammer throw, 35 pound weight and the 50 pound weight. He also placed second in the javelin.

A day later Arline placed second in the clean and jerk and snatch at the National Masters in Baton Rouge, LA.

In 1987, Arline began his athletic career with a simple goal. He decided to give weightlifting a try in order to add muscle mass while he was a student at Leon High School in Tallahassee.

dedicated to training, which has been the driving force behind his success.

In his 36 years in athletics Arline estimates he's had about 700 to 800 training partners. But for various reasons all of his training partners have quit while Arline's, the only one who has persevered.

"Things don't come to you, you have to learn to sacrifice," Arline said.

Arline puts himself through a grueling training regimen.

Every Monday through Thursday afternoon while most of the working class is busy using their free time to eat, Arline prefers to use his spare time more constructively.

He cruises home in his Nissan truck to train at his home gym located on Bacon Point Road.

Arline reserves these afternoons for his light workouts, about 700 to 800 training partners. Arline begins his workout by limbering up his muscles with 15 minutes of stretching exercises and then moves on to perform three or four weightlifting movements, which consist of overhead lifts, squats and dead lifts.

But if you think Arline's day is finished as far as training, you are sorely mistaken.

Undaunted, he returns to his gym after a hard day working as Supervisor of Probation and Parole.

These evening workout sessions are when Arline gets serious with a two to two and a half hour workout. This workout include stretching, heavy weights, more stretching to warm down and then into the hot tub to give his tired muscles a rest.

Friday is Arline's only day off from training and he does one extended workout Saturof his training regimen. Arline's diet includes fruits and vegetables like salads and oranges, carbohydrates like pasta and he takes a variety of vitamins.

The years of training have benefitted Arline both physically and mentally.

He is only sick about once a year and when he becomes sick he says he recovers quickly. Training has also acted as a stress reliever for Arline to free his mind from the rigors of daily life and has provided him with a better outlook on life.

There is a personal side to Arline as well. He is an animal lover. Arline enjoys the company of his numerous pet two attack cats-Smoot and Lonely, a golden retriever-Samantha and his pet bird Bandit, who cacatoo. He also has his training partners Bull and Thunder, two miniature dachshunds. Arline is planning to have them fitted with weightlifting belts in the near future so they can train with him full time.

Arline also enjoys the company of his family. He and his wife have three children: Connie, 23, Emily, 19 and Jerry, Jr., 14.

Arline's athletic influences have rubbed off on his family. All of his children have enjoyed or are currently enjoying fine athletic careers at Glades Day. Connie played basketball and volleyball. Emily was MVP in singles of her tennis team last year, while Jerry Jr. is currently a pitcher for the JV baseball team and also plays JV basketball.

"I've always tried to set an example for my family," said Arline. "It takes personal commitment to do what you want to do."
